The Comptroller has established a set of process guidelines and related forms under the title "State Property Accounting Process User's Guide" to facilitate compliance by various governmental entities. Chapter 2175 of the Government Code contains provisions affecting the disposal or transfer of surplus property, including Section 2175.304 that contains important exemptions for institutions of higher education. Regents Rule 80201 provides more detailed guidance on issues relating to the disposition of surplus property.

8.2. Responsibility

The Vice President for Business Affairs is property manager for the University. Department heads are responsible for all University property in their care. The property manager is responsible for maintaining property records and prescribing reports required from department heads. Department heads are responsible to ensure that the annual physical inventory of University property assigned to their department is completed in a timely manner. These records are maintained by the Director of Accounting. The department head may not delegate the responsibility for the proper care, maintenance, and safekeeping of university property assigned to his/her custody; however, departmental custodians should be appointed to assist department heads in fulfilling their responsibilities. All custodians new to the requirements for inventory and accounting of property shall attend appropriate training classes.

8.3. Inventory

A department's capitalized inventory is the furnishings and equipment they use to carry out their own mission. These items are usually purchased with departmental funds, but may also have been acquired by transfer from another department or state agency, or, by donor gift. Capitalized inventory items are non-consumable, so they will have at least a one-year useful life and a purchase price of $5,000 or more. Annual inventory reconciliation will be performed at the department level. All items listed as missing, stolen, or otherwise not found must be explained in the reconciliation process. The circumstances relating to missing and stolen property will be reviewed by the Vice President for Business Affairs to determine whether department neglect or carelessness contributed to the loss. The State Auditor's Office findings will be looking closely at what measures a department has taken to try and find and recover the items, and, what safety measures are in place to prevent such losses. These procedures place an emphasis on responsibility and accountability on each employee for the state property for which they have been entrusted.

8.4. Tagging

Purchased items are flagged to be tagged by the payment process. This flag is automatically generated by the object code used on the payment document. All items with a unit purchase price of $5,000 or more and a useful life of greater than one year will be tagged with a bar-coded property tag with a unique number. This tag should be placed in a location on the item that will provide efficient scanning at the time of annual reconciliation. An employee from Central Store/Receiving, will expedite the tagging process. This employee will place the tag on the equipment in a location that is consistent with other like equipment, and gather relevant information for the creation of an electronic record of the item (i.e. serial number, bldg/room number). The information will be forwarded to USAS who sets up the records. If the purchase price of an item is less than $5,000 and does not fall in the controlled items category, the State does not require that it be tracked with a numbered tag. There are property tags, with no numbers, that have the University seal and name that should be used for these items. A blank property tag will clearly show ownership of the property and provide deterrent against theft.

8.5. Controlled Items

Controlled Items are those items, under the capitalized cost of $5,000, that either the Comptroller or our processes require us to account for, and report on, annually. With the exception of guns and rifles, controlled items will have a minimum purchase price of $500.

8.6. Tracking

Inventory items are tracked primarily by their property tag numbers. Central Stores along with IRD maintains the inventory records for all departments; therefore, all communication and paperwork regarding an inventory item should be routed through that office for final approval. The inventory record is a good source of information regarding an item (for example: serial number, purchase order number, account number of acquisition, department ownership, all previous owners of transferred items, purchase price, etc.) and is often helpful to identify items that have lost their property tags.

8.7. Off-Site

Inventory items may be taken off the University premises upon completion of the Removal from Premises Authorization form. This form identifies the employee requesting the authorization, a certification that the item will only be used for University business purposes, a signed recommendation of approval by the department head, and, final approval by the property manager.

8.8. Transfer

Moving the responsibility and ownership of inventory items from one department to another is made official by filling out a transfer form and forwarding it to the Accounting office with original signatures from both the transferring and receiving departments. Consistency with this activity is critical in maintaining accurate departmental records. Please be aware that ownership and responsibility remains with the transferring department until the receiving department has signed the transfer form. It is considered good stewardship to utilize, within your agency, as much of the useful life of an item as possible before releasing it to surplus or any other entity.

8.9. Surplus

When an inventory item becomes obsolete for use at the University it is transferred to the Surplus Property division for appropriate disposal in accordance with the University's written procedures. This process requires that the transferring department prepare a transfer form assigning the item to Surplus. The Physical Plant Warehouse Supervisor is the only authorized signer to receive surplus items. Therefore, it is imperative that arrangements for surplus be made with him, to protect the security of the items, before the surplus truck picks them up and assumes ownership of them. Departments remain responsible for the items until Surplus Property authorities have signed for them.

All information storage devices must be subjected to data removal and decommissioning procedures prior to disposal. The department must document their services on your transfer form, so it's important to have it prepared before you contact them to come to your department. In the rare instance where IRD determines that a computer should not be sent to surplus but rather has continued service-life for the University, they will request that you change the receiving department on the form, from Surplus to IRD (If there are multiple items on the form, but not all of them are surplus property, they will request that you delete the items not surplus and put them on a separate form for transfer to IRD.) When IRD's service is complete, contact IRD to remove the item(s) for surplus.

8.10. Annual Reconciliation

State law requires that each state agency perform an annual physical check of all of their inventory items. To comply with this requirement, the University's property manager has delegated the annual reconciliation to each department head. The department head will handle the annual reconciliation process for their department, ensuring the accuracy of the data, timeliness of the process, and the return to Central Stores/Receiving of the required certification and documentation to complete the department's responsibilities for the activity. This annual event

Administrative Policies
Capitalized and Controlled University Property should occur for the University each year between February and April. Detailed instructions and timelines are generally included in information packets provided to departments at the beginning of the annual process. The process includes a preliminary scanning of bar-coded items, for each department when applicable. Items not located in the scanning process must be reconciled by the department. The deadlines for completion of the entire annual process are staggered for departments from April 1 to May 1.

8.11. Stolen

To declare an item stolen, the department must submit a copy of the police report to Central Stores/Receiving within 24 hours of filing the report. (If no police report is filed immediately upon determining that the item has been stolen, it cannot carry the stolen designation; it will instead be considered missing). Central Stores/Receiving will submit the police report as support documentation for a Request for Removal from Inventory to the U.T. Property Manager (Central Stores/Receiving maintains the University's inventory records on the Statewide Property Accounting system). The report will be reviewed and appropriate action will be taken.

8.12. Missing

An item should be declared missing by a department when they first become aware that they cannot find it. An item that is classified as missing will remain on the department's inventory for two years from the date that it was electronically stamped as missing. The two-year gap is a window of opportunity for the department to look for the item or for the item to resurface. Many items get labeled as missing during reconciliation, but turn up in other departments as items that they have possession of but are not on their list to acknowledge as found. When this occurs, Central Stores/Receiving notifies the department with the missing item so they can either retrieve their equipment or prepare appropriate transfer documentation.

25. Copyright Policy

It is the policy of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin to adhere to the requirements of the United States Copyright Law of 1976, as amended. (Title 17, United States Code, hereinafter, the "Copyright Act") including ensuring that the restrictions that apply to the reproduction of software are adhered to and that the bounds of copying permissible under the fair use doctrine are not exceeded. Accordingly, all faculty, staff and students of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin should adhere to the following policy guidelines:

25.1 Materials Subject to Restrictions

Only copyrighted materials are subject to the restrictions in this Policy Statement. Uncopyrighted materials may be copied freely and without restriction. Because a copyright notice is not required for copyright protection of works published on or after March 1, 1989, most works (except those authored by the United States Government) should be presumed to be copyright protected, unless further information from the copyright holder or express notice reveals that the copyright holder intends the work to be in the public domain. With regard to works published prior to March 1, 1989, a copyright notice generally is required in order for them to be copyright protected.

25.2 Copyrighted Software

Copyrighted software may be copied without the copyright owner's permission only in accordance with the Copyright Act. Section 117 of the Act permits the making of a single archival back-up copy. Most software, however, is licensed to the user and the terms of the license agreement may give the user "permission" to make copies of the software in excess of the single archival copy permitted by the Copyright Act. Each software license agreement is unique, and its terms and provisions will vary from product to product and from company to company. As a result, the extent of the user's rights to copy licensed software beyond that which is permitted under the Copyright Act cannot be determined without reference to the user's license agreement with the software copyright owner. It is the policy of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin that any copying or reproduction of copyrighted software on U. T. Permian Basin computing equipment must be in accordance with the Copyright Act and the pertinent software license agreement. Further, faculty, staff and students may not use unauthorized copies of software on U. T. Permian Basin owned computers or computers housed in U. T. Permian Basin facilities.

25.3 "Fair Use"

Copyrighted materials may be copied without the copyright owner's permission where such copying constitutes "fair use" under the Copyright Act. Section 107 of the Act identified four factors to be considered in determining whether a use is fair. While this statutory "balancing test" is the ultimate test of fair use, the appropriate administrative office of the institution should request the advice of the Office of General Counsel to assist with any application of fair use analysis.

25.4 Permission to Copy

In order to copy materials, including software, where (a) the materials are copyrighted, (b) copying extends beyond what is permitted by license or the boundaries of fair use, and (c) advice of the Office of General Counsel has not been sought, permission should be obtained from the copyright owner.

25.5 Copyright Infringement

When permissible under State law and procedures, The University of Texas System will arrange for the defense of any faculty or staff member against charges of copyright infringement for any copying:

where the copying is in accordance with the provision of a valid software license agreement, where the permission of the copyright owner has been obtained in writing, or where the Office of General Counsel has issued a written opinion favorable as to the permissibility of the copying.

Otherwise, the faculty or staff member may be personally responsible for the defense of an action for copyright infringement.

25.6 Notice of Copyright Policy

The Chief Business Officer is responsible for posting notices reflecting this policy at all photocopying stations which may be used for reproducing copyrighted materials, e.g., departmental copy rooms and libraries, and at or near all computer stations that may be used for reproducing copyrighted software. Photocopy guidelines concerning books and periodicals should appear at all photocopy machines.

25.7 Music Copyright Policy

For educational uses of music, the guidelines set forth in the legislative history of Subsection 107 of the Copyright Act generally are applicable.

26. Intellectual Property

The basic Intellectual Property Policy, as contained in The University of Texas System Board of Regents' Rules and Regulations, Rule 90101, is the policy of U.T. Permian Basin.
