Official policies governing staff employment are available in the Office of Human Resources. The University of Texas of the Permian Basin reserves the right to amend or revise rules, policies and procedures without prior notice.

INTRODUCTION

The Texas Constitution of 1876, Article VII, Section 10 provided that "The Legislature shall, as soon as practical, establish, organize and provide for the maintenance, support and direction of a university of the first class, to be located by a vote of the people of this State and styled "The University of Texas..." The Legislature vested the government of the University in the Board of Regents of The University of Texas.

Today, as a result of succeeding legislatures adding institutions of higher education since 1881, the University has developed into a statewide system of higher education.

The central management and coordination of the System is the responsibility of the System Administration, as provided in the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents of The University System. The Rules further provide that "The System Administration shall be based in Austin, Texas to benefit from personnel and facilities with The University of Texas at Austin. System Administration officers shall travel to the other institutions as their administrative responsibilities require".

The institutions of The University of Texas System, in addition to The University of Texas of the Permian Basin are:

UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES

Recruitment

The Office of Human Resources has the responsibility of attracting and recruiting staff employees for the University. The employment opportunity bulletin board, Human Resources employment opportunity website, and Texas Workforce Commission are methods used to publicize staff vacancies.

Code of Ethics

Employment with The University of Texas of the Permian Basin carries a responsibility to be constantly aware of the importance of ethical conduct. Employees must refrain from taking part, or exerting influence, in any transaction, in which their own interests may conflict with the interests of the University. Review the Standards of Conduct Guide at http://www.utpb.edu/docs/default-source/utpb-docs/files/compliance/soc_guide_2.doc?sfvrsn=2

Nepotism

State statutes and Board of Regents Rules and Regulations define the employment of a relative of a University officer or supervisory employee.

Staff Appointments

There are two types of staff appointments: full-time and part-time. The type of appointment determines eligibility for employee benefits.

Full-time employees are appointed 4-1/2 months or more and work 20 hours or more per week. Full-time employees are entitled to accrue vacation and sick leave, observe paid holidays, earn longevity or hazardous duty pay, receive insurance coverage with premium sharing, and are eligible to participate in a retirement program.

Part-time employees are usually appointed less than 4-1/2 months and work less than 20 hours per week. Part-time employees are not eligible to participate in employee benefit programs with the exception of Workers' Compensation, Unemployment Compensation and Social Security.

Classified Pay Plan and Job Descriptions

All staff positions and titles (with minimum and maximum salary ranges) in the UTPB Pay Plan are established by an analysis and evaluation based on duties, responsibilities, education, experience and required qualifications.

Promotions and Transfers

When a staff vacancy occurs, consideration should be given to qualified internal candidates as well as external applicants. Qualified departmental employees may be promoted. Employees may apply for positions in other departments.

Employee Identification (EID)

Your UTPB-EMPL ID is an electronic 10 digit identifier. EMPL ID will be used in place of your social security number on university documents.

Employees are also issued an identification card by the Office of Human Resources and Police Information Office upon employment. This card can be used at the University library, for recreational activities, and other University facilities. It will also be required when traveling to other UT institutions.

Probationary Period

The probationary period (180 days) is for a supervisor's observation of a new employee's work performance and to allow an employee to adjust to their duties and environment. This probationary period is part of the selection process and will help the supervisor determine the employee's performance, ability, willingness and dependability.

During the probationary period, employee evaluations will be conducted at the end of 90 days and at the end of the 180 day probationary period.

During the probationary period, an employee will accrue vacation time, but will not be eligible to use the accrued time until after completion of the six-month probationary period. A new employee who has prior continuous state service of more than 6 months will have a probationary period, as provided in this policy, but will be able to accrue and use vacation leave from their first day of employment. The employee will accrue sick leave and is eligible to use sick leave at any time with their supervisor's approval.

During the probationary period, an employee is not eligible for a merit raise.

During the probationary period, a transfer or promotion within the same department is permissible, if the transfer does not result in a change in the immediate supervisor and the employee meets the required qualifications for the position. A transfer does not "restart" the probationary period. The probationary period continues until the expiration of the original six (6) calendar months.

An employee transferring from a University of Texas System institution or another State agency will be considered a probationary employee for a period of six continuous months of service from the date of initial employment at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

An employee returning to employment with UTPB, after a break in service, is considered a probationary employee.

Work Schedules

The UTPB official workweek is from 12:01 A.M. Monday through 12:00 Midnight the following Sunday. The established regular workweek for full-time employees is 40 hours per week. Employees normally receive one hour for their lunch period. Some offices are required to be open additional hours to conduct essential business. Supervisors will advise their employees of the hours they are expected to work.

At a minimum, all offices must remain open during the normal work hours of 8:00 A.M. until 12:00 Noon and 1:00 P.M. until 5:00 P.M. The open and close times may be between 6:00 A.M. and 10:00 P.M., with the exception of the University Police Department which is on duty 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

Rest Periods/Coffee Breaks

UTPB does not have formal rest periods or coffee breaks for employees. A rest period or coffee break of not more than fifteen minutes during the first half of a regular work day and not more than fifteen minutes during the second half of a regular work day may be granted by the supervisor, subject to the workload demands of the department.

Because rest periods and coffee breaks are a privilege and not a right, they cannot be accumulated for use at a later date or time, nor used to shorten the regular workday.

Casual Dress

Because all casual clothing is not suitable for the office, these guidelines will help you determine what is appropriate to wear to work. Clothing that works well for the beach, yard work, dance clubs, exercise sessions, and sports contests may not be appropriate for a professional appearance at work. Clothing that reveals excessive back, chest, stomach or undergarments is not appropriate for a business setting. Even in a casual work environment, clothing should be pressed and never torn, dirty or frayed. Any clothing that has words, terms, or pictures that may be offensive to other employees is unacceptable. This includes images that are political or religious in nature, are sexually provocative, use profanity or are insulting to other employees. Clothing that has a University logo is acceptable and generally encouraged. If you are uncertain about acceptable, professional casual attire for work, please ask your supervisor or contact Human Resources.

Overtime

Overtime is not normally required of employees. In special circumstances when a non-exempt employee is required to work more than 40 hours in a workweek (excluding leave, weekends and holidays), the employee may be eligible for overtime compensation in accordance with the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The President and the supervisors must approve overtime before the work is performed. Federal and state law facts concerning overtime compensation are available in the Office of Human Resources.

Outside Employment

Employees normally work defined hours and days, consequently, outside employment must be at other times. Outside employment is regulated by the Board of Regents Rules and Regulations. Outside employment must not create nor result in a conflict of interest, or in the impairment of the employee's ability to perform assigned duties in a satisfactory manner. Employees considering outside employment must complete the Request for Prior Approval for Outside Employment to receive permission to engage in an outside employment activity.

<http://www.utpb.edu/audience/faculty-amp-staff/university-forms> The department head or supervisor has the responsibility for determining whether outside employment has an adverse effect on an employee's performance of University duties. If it is determined the outside employment has an adverse effect, the employee will be requested to voluntarily resign the outside employment; or the supervisor may take other action to ensure the duties of the employee's position are performed properly.

Dual Employment

State law provides that an employee may hold non-elective offices or positions of honor, trust or profit with the State of Texas or the United States, if holding such office or position is of benefit to the State or required by law and if there is no conflict with the original position.

Any employee who seeks to hold a non-elective office or position of honor, trust or profit must obtain the approval of the administration and approval by the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System. Employees legally employed in two positions within State of Texas government are subject to special provisions. For more information, contact the Office of Human Resources.

Time Reports

Time reports are required for all UTPB employees. The employee and the supervisor must both certify to the accuracy of the time reported. Time reports must be submitted weekly. Falsified time reports constitute misconduct and can result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employee, supervisor or both.

Monthly payroll checks and earning statements are disbursed on first working day of each month. Semi-monthly payroll checks and earning statements are disbursed on fifth working day after the end of the payroll period. Checks are disbursed in the Office of Financial Services. Earning statements are available for printing on PeopleSoft. Direct deposit is available to all UTPB employees.

Payroll Deductions

Appropriate University personnel, as designated by the administrative head of each office maintaining personnel records, shall have access to employee personnel records on an as-needed basis.

Information in employee personnel files may be released (a) in compliance with a judicial order or a subpoena, and (b) to representatives of state or federal agencies pursuant to authority granted to them by statute or regulations.

The release of information in personnel files, the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, is prohibited to all other individuals without the written consent of the individual employee.

It is the policy of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin to provide a safe environment for all employees. Each member of the University community should accept responsibility for reporting conditions that could jeopardize the health or safety of persons or result in damage to property.

Falcon Alert is an emergency notification service that gives UTPB administration the ability to communicate health, safety, or other emergency information quickly- by text messaging to your cell phone. If you enroll in Falcon Alert, university officials can quickly pass on safety-related information to you regardless of your location.

Official notification of closure of University offices will be sent only through these channels. Please be sure to check these sources when experiencing inclement weather. The broadcast messages will be updated as necessary.

University staff will use “other ” on their monthly time report to record a day when the University closes due to inclement weather. Also, the staff employee will add a notation below the time report as to why “other” has been chosen.

BENEFIT SUMMARIES

Vacation

Staff employees are entitled to vacation leave after six months of continuous employment. Vacation leave cannot be used until it has been accrued. Vacation is earned from the first day of employment at a rate specified in the current appropriations bill. Part-time employees (more than 4-1/2 months and 20 hours per week) accrue vacation in proportion to the percent of time they work.

Employees are urged to utilize vacation leave during the fiscal year it is accrued. The maximum amount of accrued vacation leave which may be carried forward from one fiscal year to the next is controlled by the Appropriations Bill, and prior to the beginning of each fiscal year. Vacation leave accrued in excess of these maximums will be forfeited without compensation.

Administrative officials shall schedule employee vacations in accordance with departmental needs for the maintenance of adequate staffing giving as much consideration as possible to employee preferences. The administrative official may designate time periods during which vacation leave is to be taken. Appropriate advance notice of designated periods should be given to affected employees. Vacation leave should be requested in advance in accordance with departmental policies. Failure to do so may result in a reduction of the employee’s earning for the pay period in which the absence occurred.

In the event of illness during a paid vacation, the employee may request such time to be charged to accrued sick leave rather than vacation, in accordance with the sick leave policies.

Employees appointed to a position which is ineligible for vacation accrual (Faculty or employees appointed less than 50%) are not eligible to accrue or utilize vacation leave accrued prior to becoming ineligible. Their vacation balance will be held until they terminate employment from the University, at which time the employee will receive a lump sum payment, provided the six months probationary period has been satisfied. If the employee returns to an eligible status the vacation accrual may be utilized, provided the six month probationary period has been satisfied.

Sick Leave

Full-time employees earn sick leave at the accrual rate of 8 hours per month. Part-time employees accrue sick leave in proportion to the percent of time that they work. Upon separation, employees are not entitled to payment for sick leave. In the event of death, the employee's estate will be paid one-half the accrued sick leave balance or 336 hours of sick leave, whichever is less.

Sick leave with pay may be taken when an employee is prevented from performing duties due to sickness, injury, or pregnancy and confinement. It may also be used when an employee is needed to care for a member of the employee's immediate family who is ill. The following persons are considered to be members of the employee's immediate family:

1. An individual who resides in the same household as the employee and is related to the employee by kinship, adoption or marriage; or
2. A foster child of the employee who resides in the same household as the employee and who is under the conservator-ship of the Department of Protective and Regulatory Services; or
3. A minor child of the employee, regardless of whether the child lives in the same household.

Sick leave may be used by the employee for the period following delivery and recovery associated with the birth of a child to the extent certified by the physician.

Sick leave for members of an employee's family who do not reside in the same household may only be taken to provide care for a spouse, child, or parent of the employee who needs such care as a direct result of a documented medical condition. Sick leave cannot be used for an employee's parent-in-law if they do not live in the same household.

Sick leave is granted only when the employee applies through their supervisor. Employees are to report to their supervisor without delay to explain the circumstances. The supervisor should be informed of any need to further utilize sick leave as well as the anticipated date of return. If absence is more than three days duration, the employee will send a doctor's certificate showing the cause or nature of the illness, or some other written statement acceptable to their supervisor.

The University will require an employee to present a "return to work release" to their supervisor before an employee is allowed to return to work. Any employee who is found to have obtained sick leave under false pretenses is subject to discharge. Excessive absenteeism and/or tardiness constitute cause for termination.

Family Medical Leave Act

Employees of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin are eligible for up to 12 weeks of family medical leave per year for certain medical reasons provided they have been employed by the University for at least 12 months prior to the commencement of the leave and have worked at least 1,250 hours.

A written leave request should be given to the Office of Human Resources at least 30 days prior to the beginning date for family medical leave. The University will require an employee to present a "return to work release" to their supervisor before an employee is allowed to return to work.

Sick Leave Pool

The Sick Leave Pool provides a source of additional sick leave for those employees who have exhausted accrued annual leave and sick leave because of a catastrophic illness or injury.

Holidays

Who is eligible for holidays?

Full-time and part-time benefited employees are granted holiday time off with pay. Holidays are granted in accordance with State statute and the current appropriations bill. Employees appointed for less than 20 hours per week or for a period of less than 4-1/2 months, or titles where student status is required, are not eligible for holiday time off with pay.

Who determines how many holidays' state agency and university employees will receive?

The state legislature sets the total number of holidays that can be observed each fiscal year by all state agencies and institutions of higher education. Institutions of higher education observe exactly the same number of holidays that are observed by all state agencies. Holidays are a combination of national and state observed holidays.

Why does the number of holidays we receive vary each year?

The legislature stipulates that we can only observe those holidays that fall on a weekday. If one or more holidays fall on a Saturday or Sunday, we are not able to observe that holiday by taking it at a different time, such as the previous Friday of the following Monday.

Why don't state agencies and institutions of higher education observe the same holidays?

While all state agencies and institutions of higher education observe the same number of holidays, the legislature gives institutions of higher education the flexibility to establish their holiday schedules. Therefore, the number of holidays observed is always the same, but state agencies and institutions of higher education may have different schedules.

What holidays does UT Permian Basin typically observe when they fall on a weekday?

Our holiday schedule typically includes Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and the day after Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and the day after Christmas, New Year's Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Memorial Day and Independence Day. Usually there are a sufficient number of state holidays remaining to schedule a winter break during the Christmas and New Year's period. However, if Christmas or New Year's Day falls on a Saturday or Sunday, they will not be reflected on the holiday schedule.

Hazardous Duty Pay

Certain law enforcement personnel of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin are entitled to hazardous duty pay in accordance with applicable law. If selected as a juror, documentation must be presented to the supervisor for the period of absence. Employees are expected to work, if reasonably possible, during regular working hours when not actually in court or performing in connection with such court service.

Do I get paid travel time as part of my jury duty leave?

No, unless you leave from work for the jury duty.

Currently, 7.2% of an employee's pre-tax gross monthly salary is deducted from an employee's paycheck for the employee's contribution toward TRS retirement plan. This contribution is tax-sheltered for purposes of federal income tax. Participation in either the Teacher Retirement System of Texas or Optional Retirement Program is mandatory in addition to coverage under the Federal Social Security Program.

UT Saver Supplemental Retirement Plans

You can contribute to the UTSaver TSA with pre-tax ("Traditional") or post-tax ("Roth") payroll deductions. Depending on your personal financial situation, it may be beneficial for you to choose one contribution strategy over the other. All employees are also eligible to participate in the UTSaver DCP ("deferred compensation"). Neither the UTSaver Tax-Sheltered Annuity nor an Optional Retirement Program contribution affects the total amount you are able to defer under the UTSaver DCP. Supplemental plans do not include an employer contribution. Details on supplemental retirement programs can be found at: <http://www.utsystem.edu/benefits/retirement/>
